BIA Census Records

1950-56

Transcribed by Timothy Miller

Introduction

Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) teachers were required to fill many roles in the villages besides that of teachers. They provided medical care, Territorial Guard leadership, and even reindeer herd supervision. They were THE federal government representatives to the village. Teaching the 3Rs often took second place. While the villagers of that era lost out on a good education, the people of today benefit from the records left by teachers. These records include census records of various years.

This document consists of birth and death records, movement in and out of the village for the years 1951-1953 and a complete census for the year 1956. Unlike the national census every ten years, all the BIA records are open to the public. The only restricted information is for health or relationship issues. That information is blacked out by the National Archives and Record Administration. In this document, it is represented by ■■■.

The information came from records archived by the National Archives and Record Administration, Alaska Region, Anchorage (Now in Seattle). They can be found in Record Group No 75 Bureau of Indian Affairs, Additional Information: Village Census Rolls 1935-1972 [1912] Golovin-Hooper's Bay.

The far left column of the census is headed "Family No." Each teacher made his own list with family numbers which do not carry over to the next teacher's census. The numbers can be valuable if a researcher looks at more than one census record from the same teacher.

The teachers and the dates they took the censuses are as follows:

Lana Pruett	Jan. Feb. & March 1951
Paul L. Winsor	April 1951 thru April 1953
Paul L. Winsor	April 1951 thru April 1951
Paul L. Winsor	April-May 17 1952
Robert J. Grant	July 3, 1953
Ivan G. Myers	January 1956

I collect this information so I can share it with the people of Hooper Bay and those who are originally from that village. The information has only potential value if it is in archives in Anchorage, Spokane, and Chicago. The value becomes real when the village acquires the knowledge of its past. I'm also using the documents to show other villages the type of information they can collect about their history.

Knowing my own family's history helped me set my course of living. The strong stand my Quaker ancestors took against slavery gave me courage to stand up for right today. Another ancestor gave me an example in reverse on the wisdom of choosing membership in organizations—he was a member for a short time in the Ku Klux Klan.

If the people of the YK Delta research their family histories they can more easily hold to what is valuable and choose the right course of action in this time of difficult choices. They will learn who their ancestors were, where they came from and how they lived their lives.

Researching genealogy and village records will connect the youth and elders. Media and technology are rapidly changing the mindset of the young people of the villages. These youngsters are disconnected from the stability of their elders. They don't know the fascinating stories of previous generations and can not feel proud of their grandparents' adventures. Genealogy research can combat this instability by connecting children with the elders. It shows each generation that they have something to share and gets conversations started. By studying family records children will learn of the characteristics they share with relatives and can strive to emulate their ancestors. They will be able to preserve family cultural and ethnic traditions for future generations.

A very necessary part of the Yup'ik tradition is adoption. The plagues that hit the YK Delta disrupted families through death. Orphan children were taken in by relatives and other villagers. The sadness of the loss of parents caused many not to speak of the circumstances of the adoptions. Sometimes the adoptee grew up hearing snatches of conversations about their natural parents and was shy to ask for a more complete record of their family connection. Census records will help to fill in knowledge gaps or help the adoptee to phrase uncomfortable questions.

Students can relate to history classes in school if they learn their family genealogy and what was happening in their village at the time of national and international events. History will become more than something read in a book or seen on a video if the students learn that their grandparents quit school at an early age because the government could not afford to run the school during WWII.

Census records are essential for Social Security benefits and for proving tribal membership. Birth certificates are often unavailable and baptism records only show the date of baptism—not the date of birth. Showing lineage going back before many non-natives arrived on the YK Delta will assist in proving Native status for young people.

These records are not just for practical purposes. We need to fondly remember our past. As we become elders, we can take comfort in memories of our youth. Many elders have smiled as they remembered childhood friends recorded in census records.

The elders with the memories of the era of these census records will soon pass. These records need to be shared so that the elders can add their memories to the reports and the village can have a more complete understanding of a previous generation.

The main reason to research old village and family records is to satisfy your curiosity about yourself and your roots. Digging into old papers and discovering unusual facts about the village is very exciting. I hope that many people will discover the pleasure of learning about their history through the records I collect and will discover facts that others have overlooked and create history books of the YK Delta from the perspective of the Yup'ik.
